

National Energy Technology Laboratory

Description:

The National Energy Technology Laboratory (NETL) is a science, technology, and energy laboratory owned and operated by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE). As part of DOE's national laboratory system, we support DOE's mission to advance the national, economic, and energy security of the United States.

Locations:

NETL has sites in Fairbanks, Alaska; Morgantown, West Virginia; Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; and Tulsa, Oklahoma. Together, these sites have 62 buildings and 14 major research facilities on nearly 200 acres.

Research:

In addition to conducting cutting-edge research and technology development on site, NETL shapes, funds, and manages contracted research in all 50 states and more than 40 foreign countries. Our research portfolio includes nearly 1,300 projects, with a total award value of $8 billion and private sector cost-sharing of over $4 billion. NETL has 60 active memoranda of understanding with industry, universities, and other national laboratories.

FY 2004 Budget:	$926 million
Fossil Energy R&D	$660 million
Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy	$108 million
Energy Assurance	$ 14 million
Other DOE Work	$ 7 million
Work for Other Federal Agencies	$137 million

Mission:

Our mission is to implement a research, development, and demonstration program to resolve the environmental, supply, and reliability constraints of producing and using fossil resources.
